and what have you

by BOB CRAIG

Well, we have a new President, don't we? Regardless of whether your man won or not it was a good election in that it brought out the voters in record numbers.

The following are just odd bits concerning the election:

One citizen remarked before the election that regardless of who wins we will probably wish the other one had before his term is up. Knowing us, we probably will.

Another one stated that he hoped his candidate lost so that later on he can say he's glad he didn't vote for the man who is in office.

In compiling the results of Jones, Fisher and Stonewall Counties we notice that many people would not vote for Johnson twice. He fell behind in his race for the Senate and the total vote cast in the senate race was well below the vote in both the race for president and governor with the governor's race topping the list. Showing also that many would not vote for either man for president.

We also noticed that the amendments received a total vote of from one-third to one-half of that cast in the election. Jones county shows a total of 5,171 votes cast in the governor's race and only 2,820 for the amendments. In Fisher county, 2,649 voted in the race for president and only 1,164 voted on the amendments. In Stonewall county, 1,175 voted for president and only 563 voted on the amendments.

Many have remarked that now we can go back to watching Gunsmoke.

Deep Breaking Demonstration Scheduled Today

A deep breaking demonstration on cotton root rot land will be held today (Thursday) on the Alton Sealy farm in the Plainview community.

All area farmers are invited to come and observe and get information on this method.

Kirby Clayton, Jones County Agent, stated this week that the all-day demonstration would be cancelled if the weather was unfavorable.

Directions on how to reach the Sealy farm can be obtained at the Plainview store.

Harlon Owens of Abilene, wholesale dealer for heavy equipment, will give the demonstration.

Hamlin Mighty Mice cinched a co-championship in the Junior High Conference with their 20-14 win over Haskell here Tuesday night. Seventh graders were also victorious with 20-0 over Haskell.

This closes the best season in three years for the junior high group.

Hamlin's season standing is 6-1-1 and they are now tied with Albany who meets Haskell next week for their closing game. Albany defeated Anson 8-0 in Tuesday night's play.

Stamford-Hamlin to Close Out Season Here Friday

The Pipers will play host Friday night to the Stamford Bulldogs in what will be the final game of the season for both elevens.

The game will not count in the district standings since Stamford was declared ineligible to compete for the honors this year. Hamlin has won second place in the district race and could tie for first if Anson should fall before the Haskell Indians Friday. Anson will represent the district in the play-offs by virtue of their win over the Pipers.

Fathers of the Pipers will be honored before the start of the game. They will be introduced on the field and then take

H. P. RUMFIELD DIES HERE, BURIED FRIDAY

Funeral services for H. P. (Bud) Rumfield, 90, were held Friday at 5 p. m. in the Baptist Church at McAadoo, Texas, with the Rev. Mr. Pate officiating. Mr. Rumfield died Thursday at the home of his niece, Mrs. Cecil Brown of Route 3, Hamlin, where he had resided for the past 7 months.

Born September 1, 1870 in Arkansas, he moved with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ozias Rumfield, to Tarrant County at the age of 5. He lived in Smithville until he and his brother, C. S. Rumfield, moved to Jones County in a covered wagon arriving here September 21, 1897.

In 1902 they bought land in the Boyd Chapel area and together they farmed and raised cattle. In 1911 he purchased land near McAadoo and moved there.

In April of this year he moved to Hamlin to make his home with Mr. and Mrs. Brown.

He attended the Baptist Church and was a member of the Masonic Lodge.

Survivors include one sister, Mrs. Delia Cunningham, of Fort Worth and 15 nieces and nephews. Five brothers and one sister preceded him in death.

Nieces and nephews who live in Hamlin are Mrs. Brown, Mrs. Monroe Tabb, Mrs. Ray Boyd, Mrs. Charlie Shipman, and Hozie Rumfield.

Burial was in the McAadoo Cemetery under the direction of Hamlin Funeral Home.

expressed an interest in working for the estimated $1,500 to $2,000 to be paid in commissions to the churches or church organizations during the contest, as well as many individuals within these groups desiring to work for the grand prizes.

Churches will be paid 75c for each new one-year subscription to the Herald in this area and 90 cents for each out-of-area subscription. They will receive 50 cents on renewals in the area and 60 cents on out-of-area renewals. Commissions on new two-year subscriptions in the area are $1.35, out-of-area, $1.65. Renewal commissions on new 5-year subscriptions in the area will be $3.00.

With over 4,000 homes in the trade area, Publisher Bob Craig stated today that he feels the $1,500 to $2,000 figures are very conservative since they are based on only half of the families in his area subscribing and these for only one year. In a contest of this type, many two to five-year subscriptions can be sold. Also, a large number can be sold to those desiring to send the paper to their friends and relatives and relatives out of this area.

Craig also announced this week that effective December 15 the rates on the Herald will be increased to bring them in line with rising costs and place them on the level with other Hamlin went with the County, state and nation in electing Jack Kennedy to the office of President. Hamlin's margin of victory for Kennedy was just as close as the national margin with only 23 votes separating the two candidates out of the 861 votes cast here for the two.

On the basis of votes cast in governors race, 888 voted in the two Hamlin boxes. The east box recorded 223 votes in the governors race and the west box polled 665.

iel, 976 to 155; and for Johnson, 835 to 314.

The Jones County totals in the presidential race were: Kennedy, 2,772; Nixon, 2,196; Sullivan, 10 and Decker, 8. The governors race: Daniel, 4,288; and Steger, 883. For U. S. Senator: Johnson, 3,419; Tower, 1,644; and Logan, 16. For the 17th Congressional District: Burleson, 4,132; and Mossholder, 906.

'Help Me, Mother'

Ed. Note: This is the second in a series of four articles which originally appeared in the Cosmopolitan Magazine, August, 1953, and which are reprinted here with permission of that magazine. Entitled "Help Me, Mother, Help Me", the following was written by Dorothy Virginia Smith.

Beulah had tuberculosis! "Ted," I could hardly whisper, "do you think—Could the children—?" I couldn't finish. Ted's face was ashen. Like a man in a trance, he dialed the doctor's number and repeated word for word what Jean had told him. Then he hung up, turned to me, and with a dazed expression said, "The doctor says to take all the children to the hospital tomorrow to be X-rayed." I don't think I fully realized just then the full import of what I had heard. Beulah! Did she know she had it? She must have known. Then, how could she have subjected the children to so terrible a disease? She had never coughed the whole time she'd been here, and she had done the work of two women. Could she have done that if she was sick? Neither Ted nor I slept that night.

In the morning, the doctor came to give the baby her penicillin shot. He was quiet and all I can remember him saying is, "If the baby has it, it is going to be terrible." If there was hope, then. But if she did... I couldn't think past that.

My mother arrived to help us. We bundled the children up, and drove the ten miles to Children's Hospital in silence. Even the older children, in the back of the car with my mother, sensed trouble and spoke in whispers.

Finally we were at the hospital. As soon as the X-rays were taken we drove to the doctor's office, where he gave us all the tuberculin test. Then, weary and exhausted, we took our family home.

Ted made a poor attempt at straightening up the house while I went out to the kitchen to prepare dinner. Mother read stories to the older children. All of us acted as there had been a death in the family. My father arrived late in the afternoon to help us wait out the news. The doctor had said he would call us as soon as he had heard from the hospital. Every time I passed the phone I repeated a silent prayer.

Finally, at five o'clock that afternoon, it rang. The doctor's voice was grim. "It's not good news," he said. My knees got weak, and I leaned against the doorway. "All four have tuberculosis. Don is a healed primary tuberculosis. Sherry had primary tuberculosis, and the baby had it worst of all."

I could hear Ted's voice on the extension: "Oh, my God."

I turned to my parents and sobbed. "All four of them. Oh, Mother, all four of my babies have tuberculosis!" Dad rushed over and put his arms around me, and we stood there, sobbing together.

Mother had gone to pieces, too, and she was pacing the floor holding the baby in her arms. The two older children were crying by this time. They didn't know what was wrong—they didn't even know what tuberculosis was—but they knew something terrible had happened. Don, the oldest, had his head cradled in his arms on the dining-room table and was crying his heart out. I put one arm around him and pulled Sherry to me with the other. I found myself telling them not to cry, that everything would be alright, and then I thought of Ted. He was sitting in the living room, his handkerchief to his face, sobbing quietly. I went in and sat down beside him. We clung to each other and cried. There is something about a grown man crying that is pitiful, and I felt strength returning to me as I attempted to comfort him.

"Don't cry, honey," I whispered, as I wiped his face with his handkerchief. "We've been through a lot together, and we've always pulled out. We'll pull out of this, too."

I thought of the many things that had happened to us in our eleven years of married life. Don had developed a cast in his eye when he was only nine months old. Sherry had been born with a twisted foot which determination and constant massage had corrected. Robby had been born with a heart murmur which to the amazement of the doctors had disappeared. Ted had been struck with bulbar polio only three years before and was hospitalized for three months. But now, four children with tuberculosis. What were we going to do?

The doctor came, and we all gathered in the living room, I sat holding the baby tightly in my arms.

"We don't have to worry too much about Don," the doctor said. "He is typed as a healed case, but we will have to put him to bed until we can get a blood test made to see if the infection is completely over. Sherry and Rob will have to stay in bed, too, until they are healed. The baby must be isolated. I am going to start giving her injections of streptomycin twice a day for six weeks. Without that, she doesn't stand a chance. Tuberculosis is one of the worst things a baby of this age can get, but I will do everything in my power for her."

I looked down at my fat little baby, and my tears fell on her blanket.

The doctor went on to describe the other children's X-rays. Each showed a spot on the lung about the size of a nickel. Christine's was the size of a silver dollar. Robby's X-ray had been the best, and yet he was the sickest. But he had always been that type of child—sicker than the rest with even the slightest cold. Since his X-ray was good, I didn't worry too much about his high temperature, but Ted did. He said that night he felt that Robby was worse than we thought. The doctor told us that Ted and I should be X-rayed the next day. Until then it had never entered my head that Ted or I could have it.

Isolating the baby was a problem. We have only three bedrooms in our house. Sherry and the baby had the small room, the two boys shared bunk beds in the middle room, and Ted and I had the master bedroom. Dad helped Ted move the bunk beds into our room and Sherry's bed into the boy's room. That way both the baby and Robby would have a room to themselves, and Don and Sherry could sleep in the bunk beds in our room.

'61 TORSION-SPRING CHEVROLETS

If you don't think scrapping the front axle has made a world of difference, you haven't driven a Chevy in a while. A few minutes behind the wheel and you can feel why drivers are happier and breakable loads are better protected. But the biggest advantage of all, you'll realize, is that the truck itself (sheet metal, tires, chassis components, everything) takes less abuse. With independent front suspension soaking up road shock and vibration, the truck lasts longer, goes extra thousands of miles before trade-in time. Add that to what everybody's always known about Chevy dependability and you find yourself looking at the soundest truck investment you could bet your business on.

and look! NEW REAR-ENGINE CORVAIR 95's

A panel and two pickups that put a thrifty air-cooled engine in the rear, the driver up front and as much as 1,900 pounds of load space in between! That's more capacity than a conventional half-tonner. Yet these Corvaire 95's are nearly two feet shorter from bumper to bumper. Highly maneuverable. Built to last and bound to save on a busy schedule!

Over 100 Awards Given At Stonewall Banquet

Miss Billie Ann Vahlenkamp of Old Glory and Jerry Kennedy of Aspermont were honored Monday night as Gold Star Girl and Boy of Stonewall County's Third 4-H Awards obtainable on a county level. The awards were presented Monday night at the Stonewall County's Third 4-H Awards Banquet in the Aspermont School Cafeteria.

Miss Vahlenkamp, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Vahlenkamp, was presented the award by Frank Ikard, U. S. Congressman from Wichita Falls. State Senator David Ratliff of Stamford presented Kennedy his award. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Kennedy.

The banquet, sponsored by The First National Bank of Aspermont, honored 101 award winners. The 300 member club is supervised by Extension Service County Agent Truett Hennig.

Slides of the year's work were shown to the gathering of 400 attending the banquet. Hennig narrated the slides.

Given merit plaques by the organization were two adult 4-H supporters — J. K. Veazey, and Tom Hart, both of Aspermont. Their help was cited as contributing greatly to the program of the county rural youth organization.

Miss Vahlenkamp had the grand champion steer in the county show and eighth district show in 1958. Her record book on beef won district competition and placed eighth on the state level this year. The top award winner's other projects often Blue Ribbon winners, have included swine, electricity and poultry. She had the top electric exhibit this year and a grand champion pen of broilers. She entered the State Fair of Texas with broilers, winning a Blue Ribbon. She also won a second place in the district vegetable production demonstration at Wichita Falls, ninth in state competition.

Kennedy served as secretary of his club for 1959-60, chairman of the Stonewall County 4-H Council this year, and chairman of the 4-H camp at Buffalo Gap. County Agent Hennig said Kennedy has carried out good projects in sheep, swine, leadership, electricity and poultry.

He won grand champion honors in the county broilers show, and his broilers in the state fair poultry show won a Blue ribbon this year. Kennedy was on the county and district-winning poultry team and took honors as a high-place individual contestant.

His record book in poultry was rather high in state competition. Scholastically, he has always been a "straight A" student in school.

Others on the banquet program included Kennedy who served as toastmaster, gave the welcome, presented special awards and offered the 4-H motto, pledge and prayer; Miss Vahlenkamp, who served as toastmistress, introduced out-of-town guests and presented special awards; Sanford Woodriddle vice chairman of the county council, invocation; Hennig and Curley Hayes, of West Texas Utilities Co. of Abilene, presentation of 4-H program and awards.

Others on the program Sandy Leverett, chairman of District 3, 4-H Council, introduction of special guests, and Beno Erdman, president of Stonewall County Farm Bureau, INSPECTING A GUAR CROP—T. C. Blamkinship, vocational agricultural teacher of Hamlin looks over a field of Guar near Rule, which produced some 3,000 acres this year. Guar is a legume which was introduced in this area as a soil builder several years ago. Now that a commercial market for the seed has been established, more of it is expected to be grown for a cash crop.

WAYS TO INCREASE AG INCOME TO BE DISCUSSED BY PANEL

Two panels of experts will discuss ways to increase agricultural income here Monday, November 21, at 7:30 p.m. in the high school auditorium, according to R. L. McClung, the chairman of the Agriculture and Livestock Committee of the Board of Community Development.

One panel, headed by Paul Marion, superintendent of the Texas Agricultural Experimental Station in Spur, will discuss ways of increasing income by the feeder lot program for livestock. The other panel, headed by Lester Brooks, superintendent of the Texas Agricultural Experimental Station of Iowa Park, will discuss methods of growing guar in this area for commercial market.

Serving on the panel with Marion will be representatives of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce Agricultural and Livestock Committee and Loy-an Walker, manager. Each will make a brief statement on the subject after which a question and answer period will follow.

Guar has been under study by the BCD for several months and seems to offer farmers in this area a means by which they can increase their take-home pay by about $14 per acre. It is a dual purpose summer legume for which there is a great demand for industrial uses.

Guar will grow splendidly in this area. It makes a good cover or soil building crop and will provide 600 to 800 pounds of seed per acre which will bring $3.75 per hundred.

The Stein, Hall & Co., Inc. of New York uses the high viscosity gum for several purposes in manufacturing their products. Most of their raw materials come from India and Pakistan but they are looking to the

Lee Leads Pipers to 24-14 Win Over Spur

With Fullback Frankie Lee leading the way, the Pipers outclassed the Spur Bulldogs Friday night, 24-14. Lee carried for 188 yards in 28 attempts and scored 12 points, one touchdown and three two-pointers.

Spur hosted the Pipers in their famed "Pit" in the final game of the season for the Bulldogs. Hamlin finished up district play in second place with Spur in third place.

Hamlin threatened to score twice in the first quarter and picked up eight points in each of the remaining three periods. Spur tied the game up in the closing seconds of the first half and missed their two-point conversion in the third that would have tied the score again.

Dan Newberry followed Lee in rushing yardage for the Pipers with eight carries for 42 yards and Jim Paronto led the Bulldogs with 85 yards in nine carries.

Although the Bulldogs gave Mike Bonds a rough time when he tried to pass, he still managed to complete two touchdown passes.

Jerald McCantles took the opening kick-off and returned nine yards to the Pipers 45. Lee carried twice for 15 yards, Dave Bellamy made two and Lee carried again for six and four yards. Bond picked up two yards and then tried a pass that went incomplete. In trying to pass again Bond was thrown for an eight yard loss and McCantles punted 23 yards to the Spur 16.

Hamlin drew a 15-yard penalty on Spur's first play. On fourth down, Spur punted from their 32 yard line and McCantles returned it 28 yards to the Pipers 48.

Lee fought for seven, Newberry two and Lee seven again. Bellamy picked up four, Lee two and Bond eight for the first. Lee hit the line for three, Newberry five and Lee six more yards. On the Bulldog Southwest for developing new sources.

This year, some 3,000 acres of guar has been raised in the Rule area which the Stein Hall & Company, have purchased over a million pounds. Mr. Ernest Rusch, assistant vice president of the firm, will be on hand to discuss marketing guar seed. All farmers and ranchers in the Hamlin area are urged to attend this panel discussions.

eight, Bond fumbled with Spur recovering on their 10.

Failing to gain their first-down, Spur punted 17 yards to their 35. Moving the ball down to the Spur 18, the Pipers were set back 15 yards for holding and on the next play David Albin intercepted Bond's pass and returned it to his 35.

After picking up one first-down, Spur was forced to punt on the 50.

Taking over on their own 15, the Pipers started moving with Lee picking up 12 yards and then shaking loose for 43 yards to the Bulldog 30. Ford carried for seven, Lee four and Austin lost one yard. Ford carried for two yards and Bond connected with a pass to McCantles up the middle with McCantles dodging several would-be tacklers to run into the end-zone for the first score. The play was good for 28 yards. Lee went over his left tackle standing up for the first two points.

After the kick-off, Spur picking up a first down on their 44 yard line and gave up the ball to the Pipers after four incomplete passes.

Trying for another score, the Pipers took to the air and on the third try Paronto picked off Bond's pass and raced 44 yards to pay dirt. Fred Walker carried in for the two-points.

With 30 seconds left in the first half, Austin and Robert Brandon tried long passes and then Bond ran out the clock.

Jim Cooper kicked the ball into the end zone to open the second-half of play. After picking up a firstdown, Spur punted 44 yards from their 48.

Taking over on their eight, The Pipers sent Lee into the line for two yards, Newberry 10 and then Lee 12 more yards. Newberry broke loose for nine yards and Lee lost one yard and then gained it back. Bellamy carried for five, Newberry three and Lee six, Bellamy carried for seven yards and then Austin passed to McCantles for 20 yards. Lee broke over left tackle and raced 17 yards for the score. Lee hit left tackle for what turned out to be the winning two points.

The Bulldogs took over the ball on their 29 after the kick-off and on third down Paronto, in the longest run of the night, swept his right end and raced 65 yards for the final Spur score. The attempt for the two-point conversion failed and Hamlin led, 16-14.

After an exchange of punts, Hamlin took over on their own 40. On the first play Lee fumbled with Spur recovering on the 39.

Spur failed to make the yardage needed for their first and Hamlin again had the ball on the 40.

Lee carried for five, Newberry four and Lee picked up 17 yards in four plays. Bond connected with Cooper standing in the endzone for the six points. The pass was good for 34 yards. Lee crashed in for his third two-pointer.

After the kick Brandon intercepted Walker's pass and returned it to the Spur 36. Bellamy and Newberry each gained six yards, Bellamy managed for five, Lee four and two and then Bond was hit behind the line of scrimmage and lost

Fan Mail Zooms For New Star

Troy Donahue, portraying a sailor who hitches a ride into adventure in Warner Bros. "The Crowded Sky" coming Friday and Saturday to the Hamlin Theatres, is America's newest film idol.

The handsome six foot, three inch actor zoomed to stardom when he appeared opposite Snadra Dee in Warner Bros. "A Summer Place." He recently finished the title role in "Parrish" with Claudette Colbert and Connie Stevens. Donahue's fan mail has now reached the "thousands per month" stage.

"The Crowded Sky" is a suspenseful story involving the passengers of a navy jet plane and a commercial airliner. Troy co-stars with Dana Andrews, Rhonda Fleming, Efrim Zimbalist, Jr., John Kerr, Anne Francis, Keenan Wynn and Joe Mantell in the Technicolor drama. Joseph Pevney directed and Michael Garrison produced the film based on Hank Searls' novel.

QUEEN AND HERO—Barbara Smart was honored as high school queen and Jimmy Mac Jeffrey was presented as football hero recently at the third annual homecoming for McCaulley High School. Miss Smart, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Smart, is a sophomore and participates in FHA, pep squad and basketball. Jeffrey, a senior, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Avis Jeffrey, and is active in football, basketball and FFA.

The Last Days of Pompeii Coming Sunday-Ferguson

A thriving ancient city destroyed by an erupting volcano — Christians being fed to lions — a courageous man facing gladiators in the arena before blood-thirsty multitudes — a dissolute populace indulging in shocking orgies before going to its doom. These are the elements of "The Last Days of Pompeii," a colossal super-spectacle in Eastman-color, starring Steve Reeves, and made with a cast of thousands for release through United Artists. It is slated to open Sunday at the Ferguson Theatre.

The story of "The Last Days of Pompeii," with its panoramic vista and its inspiring and fearful ending with the destruction of Pompeii, has the sweep and colossal action that distinguish "Ben Hur" and "Quo Vadis."

Produced on an epic scale, "The Last Days of Pompeii" was filmed in Supertotalscope in Italy with a multi-million dollar budget. It is a spectacle in the sweeping lavish DeMille
